

A tale of survival

This week, we asked our readers: If you were stranded on a desert island, what is the one item you would want to have with you and why? Here are our favourite answers

9 A big water container. The water would cool me down and quench my thirst.

Because sea water irritates my skin and tends to give me red patches and itchy bumps, I would probably use some of the water to have a wash.

I think I could survive with this water until I am rescued in time.

Blaza Jamillah Hessa, 15, Catholic Ming Yuen Secondary School

Our student, Blazza Jamillah Hessa (3B), has expressed her points of view towards the topic about “If you were stranded on a desert island, what is the one item you would want to have with you and why?” The article was published in SCMP (Young Post) on 22nd June, 2021.