

A tale of survival

This week, we asked our readers: If you were stranded on a desert island, what is the one item you would want to have with you and why? Here are our favourite answers

Just like how Tom Hanks' character in Cast Away had Wilson the volleyball, I would need a real friend if I were stranded on an island.

The friend could offer help if I'm in danger. We could play, find food, and keep each other company. Time would pass more quickly, and I would feel less bored with a friend by my side.

Justin Shi Chi-ming, 15,
Catholic Ming Yuen Secondary School

1

Our student, Shi Chi Ming (3A), has expressed his points of view towards the topic about “If you were stranded on a desert island, what is the one item you would want to have with you and why?” The article was published in SCMP (Young Post) on 22nd June, 2021.